Sharon Graham is a painter and a potter residing in Northern Wisconsin along the shores of Lake Superior. Living where she does indulges her love of the outdoors. This love is an integral part of her art. She considers herself primarily a landscape artist working with color and shadow. "The colors along the shoreline of Lake Superior seem to change by the minute and capturing those changes is the current goal of my art. I use oil paint on canvas as my primary medium and an occasional watercolor." Her first trip to the land of red rock and national parks took her breath away. She was used to working with blues and greens and suddenly everything was red and ochre. This challenge encouraged her to return often to the Zion National Park area. Sharon earned a Master of Fine Arts from the University of Cincinnati in painting and drawing. She has taught at the Cincinnati Art Museum, the Minnesota Museum of Art, the Madison Art Center, Northland College and the University of Wisconsin-River Falls. Currently, she is involved in opening a gallery, Trout Run Art, in what was the first saloon in Port Wing, WI. This will serve as a showcase for her work as well as other fine artists.
